A WORTHY INSTITUTION.

It seems almost ridiculous to speak of a worthy institution of Boston which abounds in a host of them, but among them is one which, acting upon the principle that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, takes care of the young and sets them on the right path to start with. We refer to the "Children's Mission to the Children of the Destitute," of which Mr. Henry P. Kidder, who is always ready to engage in any good work, is president, and Mr. Wm. H. Baldwin is vice-president. The annual report recently published shows that the mission has been instrumental in taking some hundreds of children from homes where the influences surrounding them were all bad, and placing them where they would at least have a chance to become respectable men and women; and the efforts of the mission have been very chearfully successful. Its finances, as might be expected from the high character of those who have conducted its affairs, are prosperous, but the institution labors under a disengagement from a very singular cause. No contribution is known or admitted. Jew or Gentile, Catholic, Baptist, Methodist, Orthodox, Presbyterian, or Unitarian, all unfortunate children are welcome to the benefits of the mission; no attempt is made to interfere with the faith of any; sects and theology are not considered; and yet because of some of these are largely interested in the institution happen to be Unitarians, many people professing in belong to other sects refuse to aid it or to place children under its benign influence.

A HUKE.

Immediately after the great fire, when it might naturally have been supposed that everything would be fearfully disrupted, real estate went flying, and such prices were realized that it was not a great while before there was a large reaction. But business-savvy people in all branches of trade were making money in real estate revived. We noticed recently that an estate on South street, which was sold since the fire for three dollars per foot was disposed of recently for twelve dollars per foot. This, however, must be looked upon as an exceptional case, and the price was probably paid in order to control the property in the interest of parties buying adjoining lots.

The frequent alterations in the lines of our streets rendered necessary by the increase of population and business, have left in various localities little strips of land which have been held very much above their actual value in the hope of forcing a high price from the owner of the next lot. A noticeable case is that on the corner of Washington and Bromfield streets, where for some years there was a little shanty for the sale of fruit, papers, &c. The owner of the next estate wanted to go on to the corner, but he would not pay an outrageous figure in doing so and the consequence is that the corner stone now being erected on the strip is "scratches" large enough to swing a cat by the tail. We think in such cases the city should take the whole estate at a fair valuation, and thus protect, in a measure, the owner of the estate adjoining from what amounts to an attempt at extortion.

THE DEER PARK.

The deer park on Boston common may have been unimportant and an attraction once, but it is neither now the other now. There is not room enough for the deer to rove about; the building is an improvement to the grounds, and we think the city fathers would show their wisdom by doing away with the city's investment in venison.

TAFF'S HOTEL.

One of the institutions of the Hub is Taff's at Point Shirley. Delmonico's in New York has a world-wide reputation, but that famous caterer never knew how to get up a dinner equal to Taff's. We remember when the old man Taff kept a place on the Beacon turnpike, and he was so anxious that his patrons should be satisfied, he was so liberal in providing, that he did not accumulate a fortune. He originated what is now known as Young's Hotel, but it was not until George Young gained possession of the premises that the place began to pay. Mr. Augustus Taff, in his house at Point Shirley, has entertained some of the leading men of the country, and no party of distinguished individuals have said to have thoroughly done their duty, without including a dinner at Taff's.

HEAD FROM.

Gen. H. F. Butler has been heard from at last; the Boston papers of last Sunday contained his letters of acceptance of the nomination of the Democratic and Greenback labor conventions. The letters do not show much fight and if the persevering candidate should be successful, it will be because of indifference on the part of the Republicans. There must be more interest taken in the campaign later in the month and general sympathy will control the election of governor. The contests in the various congressional districts may bring out a fuller vote than the matter of the governor election would; and we may yet have a lively campaign.

VOTE AT THE MORTON.

Moses, Tappinck & Hill have opened the season of 1852-3 by producing the romantic drama of "Youth," in which they have outdone all their previous attempts in the way of dramatic talent and effective scene display. The plot is simple, and the painting, declaiming, and no excuse has been spared to put it up the stage. There are upwards of twenty characters directly represented, and more than three hundred persons appear upon the stage during the progress of the piece. It is well with the author, and I expect in fact we may say that never before in Boston has there been anything in the way of a theatrical display to compare with the presentation of "Youth" at the Morton.

The republican caucus, to choose delegates to attend the joint convention of Norfolk and Plymouth counties, to nominate a candidate for district attorney for the south-eastern district, was held at the Town House Tuesday evening. Col. B. S. Lovell was chosen chairman, and John A. Raymond, secretary. The following delegates were chosen: James Humphrey, F. A. Pratt, J. M. Whitehouse, E. P. Worster, A. J. Richards, B. S. Lovell, George W. White.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The October meeting of this society was held as usual in the Tufts Library rooms, on Wednesday evening, the 4th inst., president Richardson in the chair. The attendance was about as large as usual, and the meeting of much more than average importance, for two reasons, the large number of valuable contributions, as will be seen by the accompanying list, and the historical read by the remaining secretary.

The latter was a contribution to the historical requiring in its preparation much care and labor, and he deserves a hearty thanks for his efforts.

It is a sketch of one, who, for more than half a century, has been a part in the public affairs of no other of his townsmen of his day, and who was one of the few Weymouth men whose reputation extended beyond the town lines.

Major James Humphrey, the subject of the sketch, was born in 1711 and died in 1788, entered public life at the age of 24 years, and continued actively engaged in it until very near the date of his death. He was first chosen constable, then an office of much responsibility, afterwards, surveyor of highways, selectman, representative and senator, besides serving upon innumerable committees.

He was a prominent and active member of the first church and parish for 50 years, and entrusted with their most important business. He was always a man of great energy, and his estate was probably the largest in the town.

The paper occupied about three quarters of an hour in the reading and was listened to with marked attention and interest. In connection with this sketch the author has prepared a genealogy of the "Weymouth Humphreys," which is nearly complete.

A vote of thanks for this paper, and also for the several donations was passed. The following is a list of the latter:

From Dr. Edward B. Whalen, a copy of "Deane's History of Statute," 8vo, Boston, 1821, pp. 405. A very rare and valuable work.

From Mr. Chas. G. Eastbrook, "King of Man's History of Northbridge Water," 8vo, 1809, pp. 100. This is also a desirable specimen.

From Mr. A. Pratt, "Weymouth Town," 1810, pp. 150.

From Elias Richards Esq., "Annual Address of Gov. Rice, June 6, 1852," Boston, 19, 72.

From Mr. Reed Blanchard, "A power of eight-hundred feet belonging to the King, Burgoyne's army, near Saratoga, early in Oct., 1777, by Abner Blanchard of Weymouth, a soldier in the Continental army."

From Mrs. Diantha T. Shaw, Dr. Cattan of Bright-Lodge, Knights of Pythias, to the new residence room, Oct. 31, Nov. 1, 2, and 3, will be a prominent local event and could fail of securing a large attendance. A variety of entertainment is being prepared for each evening, and articles of no or fancy will be sold at low prices. The object of the fair is to provide for the furnishing of the hall, and it is hoped the public will extend their aid in generous manner.

Our former townsmen, Mr. Frank W. Humphrey, now of St. Louis, has an original and sprightly advertisement of his chipping house in daily of that city, as follows:

GRAND SWEEPER-EATERS! "Bender unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's," &c. Let the shoemaker stick to his last." You can't make a whale out of a pig's ear, and the peculiar qualities of each articles necessary to meet in order to successfully design and manufacture and sell fine clothing are of such a nature that less than a dozen tailors in the United States have ever achieved any reputation. In this direction, No one understands this so better than the gentleman who composed the awarding committee on clothing, who yesterday, after careful and deliberate examination, awarded us every first premium offered by the fair association for the best men's clothing, for the best boy's clothing, for the best display of ready made clothing.

Visitors, as well as St. Louisians, will please make a note of the fact that duplicates of every article on exhibition in our regular stock, the garments which captured the blue ribbon were not the products of our custom New York tailor, but something that would take the premium everything, but our regular tailors, as we can see, are not up to the year at our fitting establishment, notwithstanding our efforts of Fifth and Pine. Visitors who desire to purchase premium blue ribbon clothing will find us prepared to receive and show them every possible attention. Grand illumination every evening by electric light.

All Around The Hub.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT.

The event of the past week was the visit of the President of the United States to the Hub of the universe. Andrew Johnson, by the tragic death of Abraham Lincoln, was named His Excellency; Chester A. Arthur, also by the ballot of a maniac, is President. In neither case was the vice-president, who by murder became president, the first choice, even for the second position, of the people of Massachusetts. But Boston is always true to the Union, and consequently when a president comes to visit, even though he may not have been our choice, he receives the respect due to his office.

Never has the president of the United States received a more splendid reception than was tendered to Chester A. Arthur last Wednesday. The military display was particularly fine, and in justice to them we must say that but for them and their promptness under the orders of a governor of Massachusetts who was not named at this reception, there might not have been any Union for Mr. Arthur to be president of. But we depart from our text: the reception of the president was in every way worthy of the occasion. He was cordially welcomed, he was put up at one of Boston's crack hotels; and in fact, his laudable superior, Garfield, would have had no more complimentary reception.

Our Governor did the honors for the state in his usual graceful manner. He would have recognized the official president in the same way, no matter who he might have been. But we hope that neither the reception nor the welcome of the governor will be taken as anything but what they were taken for, a reception and a welcome to the President of the United States.

THE LIQUOR INTEREST.

We thought we knew something of the power which the liquor dealers exert on the politics of Boston. We know that under either license or prohibition the liquor dealers had the police, to use an expression strong if not eloquent, under their thumb. But we were not prepared to hear, as we have heard recently, that the dealers in the ardent have a large number of children espoused in their cause, and that not only boys who will soon become voters, but girls who will be the wives of voters, are even now patrons of corner larceny and coulour suppliers of those who make a living from them.

We have it direct from a gentleman connected with the society for the prevention of cruelty to children, that at the North end it is a common thing for boys and girls, from twelve to fifteen years of age, to not only purchase liquor but to actually drink at the bar.

Now, say what we may of the temperance matter—and we don't suppose anyone really expects to put an entire stop to the sale of liquor in Boston at present—this sale is in itself a monstrous evil, and the whole community should insist upon the enforcement of that portion of the law.

It is the duty of the press to recognize every evil, expose it and oppose it. We know that lawmen who are interested in missions in Boston will be surprised to learn that the children are becoming drunkards by actually drinking at bars, and we feel it to be a duty we owe to the public to let that fact be known.

THE TELEPHONE.

This comparatively new invention—time passes so quickly we can hardly call anything new—must interfere seriously with the stock in the new fashioned telegraph companies. We speak of them as old-fashioned, and yet we are reminded that at the time Daniel Webster died, only thirty years ago, the news of his death was carried by a man on horseback from Marshfield to Boston, as there was at that time neither railroad nor telegraph between the two points. Now, a man would step in the nearest station and "by word of mouth" tell the story in a minute. We can't very well get ahead of time but we have a fair way to keep up with it.

OUR FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Those of our readers who see, in passing through our streets, our well regulated department, its men and horses in perfect training, can form no idea of what the fire department of Boston was thirty years ago. We have not the dates at hand to give the time when the old system of volunteers was abolished under Mayor Lyman. The idea of a paid department was bitterly contested, and the mayor was told that under that system the engines could not be made to work. He persevered, and for his time he had a good fire department. The introduction of steam fire engines was as bitterly opposed, but the city of Boston would to-day as soon return to the old times of oil lamps, wicks, and night watchmen as to the old time volunteers, had engine, fire department.

VICK'S ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY.

is the handsomest, most instructive and reliable Florio's Guide of the country—something that every cultivator of flowers really cannot do without. Send to James Vick's Sons, Rochester, N. Y., for specimen copy.

Judicial.

Our townsmen, Judge E. C. Bumopus, who on last Friday was nominated by the republicans for district attorney, has received an appointment from the Governor and will enter upon his duties for the interim. This appointment lasts till January, 1883, at which time, if elected next month, he will enter upon his services by the vote of the people. Judge Bumopus has resigned his position as judge of the District Court at Quincy, and Special Justice Tower will perform the duties until an appointment is made.

We learn that the friends of Hon. Jas. Humphrey are making effort to secure his nomination as Judge of the District Court, and that the friends of several other gentlemen are working in their behalf for the same position. It is conceded that Mr. Humphrey would make an excellent Judge, his large legal experience eminently qualifying him for the place.

Death of Dr. Tirrell.

Dr. Norton Q. Tirrell, died Oct. 19th, 1882, aged 64 years, 10 mos., and 19 days. Funeral services 1 p. m., Sunday at his residence. Friends are requested not to bring flowers.

If cleanliness indeed be next to Godliness, we know of no one who does more to promote this virtue than James P. Hale, through his introduction of his Pearline.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSM.

This elegant dressing is preferred by those who prefer it, to any other hair balsam, for the want of more decorative and pretty,
but it is not so good as the scalp and hair are not so well treated.
